1. Prior to infiltration RNCertain was queried on the significance of the code sentences transmitted in the first reference. According to RNCertain who would be in the best position to know, these sentences are merely indications of Apple's status inside KMWaahee, and do not have any special significance. The first two are designed to give RNCasting an indication of the condition and progress of the team and the third is a definite statement RNCasting followers are in complete control of the area Apple is operating in.

2. If such messages are received we will immediately cable notification per your request. However, a review of Apple's traffic shows several messages have been received which have been translated as follows: "Everything all well" and "the situation is quiet". It would be quite possible and proper to translate such sentences as "We are in good condition". Therefore, to give our translators something more definite to go on it would be helpful if RNCasting could provide the code sentences in KMWaahee at some future date.
